

Managing Woodlands for Added Value

This event will show how the conversion of timber into marketable products can add value to the raw material. Ranging from firewood to high end fencing and milled timber. Hosted by Toby and Aly at Say it With Wood. We will visit a working woodland and the yard where they process a range of products.

Toby and Aly have been coppicing and selling chestnut fencing products for many years. Their experience spans all aspects of woodland management and can show how adding value can lead to employment and business growth.

We will also look at different systems of felling and extraction, and achieving maximum productivity from timber on a challenging site.

When? - Friday 18th July 2014— 10.00am - 15.00pm

Where? - Say It With Wood, Leighton Court Farm, Herefordshire, HR8 2UN

The majority of the event will take place outdoors so please ensure suitable clothing and footwear is worn.

The event costs £10.00 which includes refreshments and lunch and is targeted at woodland owners, managers and contractors within the West Midlands. Reservations will be given on a first come first served basis.

To book your place, contact Harriet Wood at Heartwoods on 01952 435860 or email harrietwood@smallwoods.org.uk

Heartwoods is a project of the Small Woods Association (Registered Charity Number 1081874)